Your Quick Guide to Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central

Microsoft Dynamics 365
Business Central

What is Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central?

As part of Microsoft's effort to continually improve their offering, they recently released Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central – their latest solution designed to help businesses join up their operations.

By connecting all aspects of the company, from services and sales to financial and operations, this next generation ERP solution can help you streamline internal processes and develop your business to its full potential.

Key Benefits

There are three significant improvements:

- Built-in intelligence for better business decisions
- Supporting the use of mobile devices
- Better integration with other Microsoft programs

From efficiently managing a range of business processes to increasing sales, here are a few ways you can benefit from the features and functions Microsoft Business Central offers:

Swift ROI

installation costs and lost working hours – the business management solution takes minimal time to set up and doesn't require special (often costly) training, so your processes can carry on without major disruptions.

Streamlined workflows

The seamless integration between Business Central and Microsoft Office 365 almost automatically improves your business productivity and helps you establish streamlined workflows across different areas of your organisation.

Dynamics 365's business management solutions saves your company time and resources by making the access, sharing and analysis of information easier while also cutting down on the time wasted switching between various applications.

Greater Flexibility

With Dynamics 365 Business Central you can choose a deployment method that best suits your business, whether that's a cloud, on premise or hybrid solution. Business Central can be deployed and extended speedily through any of these methods, allowing your company the flexibility it needs to flourish. Business Central also offers the same excellent user experience across desktop and mobile, allowing you to seamlessly run your business from anywhere, on any platform.

Joined-up processes across the business

Dynamics 365 Business Central makes business operations more efficient by joining up processes and data from across different parts of the company to create a cohesive whole and allow your teams to work more smoothly, together. It's the end of an era – the outdated era of exporting and merging documents day in and day out!

Software that grows alongside your business

Dynamics 365 Business Central gives your business the flexibility to grow on its own terms and adapts accordingly instead of forcing you to match your operations to the software's capabilities. Far from being a one-size-fits-all solution, Business Central allows you to find the right fit for the needs of your business and industry. As your company grows, your Dynamics 365 solution will extend and evolve alongside it.

Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central offers everything a business needs to effectively manage growth, boost efficiency and increase profitability.
